

Philippa Dunne

Philippa plays 'Geraldine Devlin' in the second series of Channel 4's award winning comedy "DERRY GIRLS" which is currently in post-production.

She also plays the supporting role of 'Anne' in BBC Television's comedy "MOTHERLAND" which has been commissioned for a second series. Cast includes Anna Maxwell Martin, Diane Morgan and Lucy Punch.

As one of the founding members of Diet of Worms comedy group Philippa has been performing on and writing for stage, television, the web and radio since 2006. She has co-written and performed in three Edinburgh Fringe shows and Diet of Worms Kinsale Shark award winning YouTube series "The Taste of Home" evolved to become the television comedy series "The Walshes" in which Philippa plays memorable Irish Mammy 'Carmel Walsh'. "The Walshes" was broadcast on both RTE1 and BBC2 television and was co-written and directed by Irish director Graham Linehan.
